(INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC, "Sunny Day" by Reed Mathis)

COACH TERRY: What's the furthest you've ever travelled from home?

MR. MYERS: The furthest I've ever been is to Tanzania on the continent of Africa and climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro.

COACH TERRY: I've been to Australia and Israel.

MS. SEIDEL: That would be my honeymoon when we went to Bali in Indonesia.

MS. GRANT: Describe the strangest food you've ever eaten.

(INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC: "Emerald Seas" by Aaron Kenny)

VALERIE: We were in Mexico, the area called Oaxaca, and I had a grasshopper taquito.

MR. BLANCHARD: Raw onion and peanut butter sandwich on sourdough -- buttered, of course. I think it's the most delicious thing, but people say it's extremely strange.

MS. GRANT: So I studied abroad in Botswana, which is in Africa, and a mopane worm is basically a dried caterpillar that is salted.

NICOLE: I ate an ant once. Not off the ground, it came out of a package from the store.

MS. CUCCO: My mother used to make gefilte fish from scratch.

MS. BACHRACH: That would have to be sea urchin. And I didn't do well with it because it was still moving on my plate.

MS. BELL: Dill pickles are my favorite food, and often after all the pickles are gone from the jar, I will save the jar and just drink the juice sometimes. It's very hydrating and it's full of electrolytes.

MR. HUTCHINSON: What song have you sung out loud recently?

(BACKGROUND MUSIC FADES OUT)

MS. DANIELS: (SINGING) You're never fully dressed without a smile. (SPOKEN) From "Annie."

MR. JACKSON: (SINGING) This is no ordinary love. No ordinary lo-oo-ve.

MRS. BIRCH: (SPOKEN) Something yesterday. (SINGING) Sing, sing a song, sing out loud, sing out strong. (SPOKEN) When Bri and I were going through the books, the songbooks, that we sing in kindergarten.

MRS. MILLER: (SPOKEN) Well, any of the Olivia Rodrigo songs that drive my daughter crazy. Like "Good for You" and "Deja Vu."

MRS. VAISMAN: (SINGING) Take me out to the ball game, take me out to the crowd.

MRS. KROH: (SPOKEN) "My World." No, "My Way." It's the Frank Sinatra song. (SINGING) I'm gonna do it my way.

MR. HUTCHINSON: (SINGING) Old Macdonald had a farm, E-I-E-I-O

JENNY: Describe the most elaborate Halloween costume you've ever worn.

(INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC: "Find Your Way Beat" by Nana Kwabena)

MRS. LOTTS: When I was in first grade, my mom made me an elephant costume, and she made it from scratch and it was amazing.

MR. J: I want to say Dracula costume. And my mom made it by hand and I even, like, wore makeup and stuff.

JENNY: Many, many years ago, I was quite pregnant with my third son and I made a double Halloween pumpkin costume.

MS. ANTHONYSON: The time I made my own costume and it was a ghost. And I got it from Martha Stewart, so it was all made of tool. Tool is like gauze.

COACH COSTIN: Well, Mr. Blanchard loves to go mountain biking, and he accidentally fell and broke his foot. So, two days later, I dressed up as Mr. Blanchard -- I actually wore this shirt -- I dressed up as Mr. Blanchard with a broken foot.

MRS. NELSON: The most elaborate Halloween costume had to have been last year's Halloween. We did homemade robot costumes made out of cardboard boxes. Myself and both of my children and my husband. And they were awesome for pictures, but very hard to move in.

MS. BYER: I was the Mad Hatter one year, and I went all-out with the makeup and the hair and the whole Johnny Depp look from the movie.

(INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC: "Dance of the Fireflies" by Nathan Moore)

MR. BIRCH: What movie quote can you recite from memory?

DANIEL: Doc Holliday. "I'll be your Huckleberry."

MS. SON: This is Hermione's line from the first movie. "Has anyone seen a toad? A boy named Neville's lost one."

MICHELE: Young Frankenstein. Um, "Stay close to the candles. The staircase can be treacherous."

MR. BIRCH: "Toto, I have a feeling we're not in Kansas anymore."

MR. FALK: Okay, this is from Willy Wonka and the Chocolate Factory, the Gene Wilder version. "Whoever heard of a snozberry? We are the music-makers and we are the dreamers of dreams. Come along, come along..."

(APPLAUSE)
